

John Burroughs Natural Science Lecture Series

“Climate Change at Mohonk: Weather and Species”

The presentation will introduce you to the local story of climate change. At Mohonk, weather records have been taken daily since 1896, and species records since 1925. The data shows how temperature, precipitation and the timing of the seasons has changed over the years. As the climate changes, species changes follow.

Shanan Smiley

Conservation Biologist/Collections Manager
Mohonk Preserve

Thursday, April 26

7:30 p.m.

College Lounge

Sponsored by: SUNY Ulster Department of Math,
Science, Engineering and Technology

With support from:

SUNY Ulster
Start Here. Go Far.

Call 845-687-5262 for more information